St George's Healthcare
NHS Trust

St George's needs your support

St George's is one of the country's leading teaching hospitals, committed to improving the health and wellbeing of the people of southwest London and beyond.

We are planning to become a NHS Foundation Trust which means that we will involve our local community, patients and staff in decisions on the development of our healthcare services.

Make your voice heard

As a member of St George's you will be able to make your voice heard and help to shape our plans to deliver better hospital and community based services.

All we need is a little of your time

Membership is free and open to anyone aged 16 and over. You might choose to receive updates about our work, want a chance to comment on our plans and take part in our programme of health seminars and events. You might even consider standing for election as a governor on our membership council. The choice is yours.
