We launched our staff values in April 2010 and have been working hard to establish them throughout St George's Healthcare. These values set out the standards of behaviour we expect from all our staff.

We are here to support patients with life-limiting conditions and their families to make sure that all patients are treated with dignity until the end of their lives.

 responsible

Our children's speech and language therapists help children with their communication skills whilst supporting their families, teachers and other health professionals.

 excellent

Last year St George's Hospital managed 315 major trauma cases, with a further 85 trauma cases each month.

Last year we treated 600 of the most vulnerable babies from across south west London.
