

Routine HIV Testing at St George's Emergency Department

This leaflet explains more about HIV Testing at St George's Emergency Department and what you can expect when you come to hospital. If you have any further questions, please speak to a doctor or nurse caring for you.

Why am I being tested for HIV?

Our Emergency Department now tests all patients aged 18-59 for HIV if they have a blood test. HIV is now a long-term manageable medical condition. If you know your diagnosis and take your treatment, you can stay completely well. Many people with HIV are unaware they have it. It can take years for any symptoms to develop, so it's important to get tested when you can.

How will I get my results?

We will not contact you if your results are negative for HIV, as no action is needed. If your HIV test is positive or needs rechecking, our specialist HIV team will contact you and ask you to come back to the hospital to repeat the HIV test.

If you really want to check your result, please contact the HIV results line 020 8725 3437 between 8.30-9.30am on Monday mornings. Please leave at least 7 days after your test before calling about your result. No other test results can be given on this line.

What if I don't want to know my HIV status?

Many people do not realise they have been at risk of infection, which is why it is important to test as many people as possible. It is important to know your HIV status early so that if you are HIV positive, you can access treatment and prevent transmission of HIV to others. HIV treatment is very effective and easy to take. These days, most people living with HIV live long and healthy lives

However, if you decide you don't want to know your HIV status, please speak to a member of staff to opt out of the HIV test before having blood taken.

What if my contact details change?

Please check we have your correct contact details. If they change in the week after your test, you need to contact your GP to update your records and call the results line to obtain your result.
