Epilepsy Clinical Neuropsychology Service

This leaflet explains more about the Epilepsy Clinical Neuropsychology Service. If you have any further questions, please speak to a doctor or nurse caring for you.

What is the Epilepsy Clinical Neuropsychology Service?
You have been referred to us as part of deciding what the best treatment is for you. Concerns about memory, attention, language, reasoning and general problem solving abilities in people with epilepsy are not uncommon. Neuropsychological assessment helps in understanding your current strengths and difficulties and considers possible influencing factors like medications, seizures and mood. This will help to find the most appropriate treatment or advice for you.

How can Neuropsychology help?
The aim of the appointment is to help you:

- Make sense of why some tasks are difficult for you
- Identify strategies to help memory, concentration or other thinking skills
- Provide information on other services that may be able to help.

Who can attend / receive the service?
The service only accepts referrals from hospital clinicians. You will be sent an appointment letter to your home address with the details of your appointment.

Where do I need to go?
Appointments usually take place in Neurology Outpatients, Atkinson Morley Wing, St George’s Hospital. We will let you know where your appointment is in your appointment letter.

What happens at my appointment?
We will ask you about the kind of problems you are having and your friend or relative will be asked for their views about any changes. We usually ask you to do a variety of paper and pencil tests, which involve reading, drawing and looking at pictures. These are not exams but are used to look at different abilities such as your memory and concentration. People usually perform better when they are alone in the room with the psychologist, so we usually ask that relatives or friends are not present while this is conducted. The assessment will take three to four hours, but this differs from patient to patient and will be discussed with you at the beginning of the appointment.
What happens after my assessment?
The results will be discussed with you that day or at another agreed time with the neuropsychologist or your consultant. This will include recommendations for future care. A report will also be sent to the person who referred you.

Does it cost anything?
Treatment is normally free to UK residents, however all NHS Trusts in the UK are legally obliged to assess whether a person accessing NHS hospital treatment is entitled to receive it.

What do I need to bring with me?
1. Bring a relative or friend who knows you well
2. Your reading glasses and hearing aids if you have any.

What should I do if I cannot get to an appointment?
If you cannot attend your appointment, please contact our Booking Team as soon as possible: 📞 020 8725 4321. They will arrange an alternative date. If you no longer wish to be seen please let us know as soon as possible so we can offer your appointment to someone else.

What should I do if I would like an interpreter to attend an appointment with me?
If you need an interpreter, please contact our Booking Team: 📞 020 8725 4321. Although family members or friends can be helpful in translating information, it is important that formal Neuropsychological assessment is facilitated by a trained interpreter should this be necessary.
