

Mary Seacole Ward

Queen Mary's Hospital, Roehampton Lane, London, SW15 5PN

This leaflet explains more about Mary Seacole ward. If you have any further questions, please speak to a doctor or nurse caring for you.

What is Mary Seacole Ward?

Mary Seacole is a Senior Health ward at Queen Mary's Hospital, Roehampton. The ward provides a short term admission, with the aim of helping you to improve your ability to care for yourself following an acute hospital stay.

How can Mary Seacole Ward help you?

A team of nurses, therapists, pharmacists, doctors, social workers and volunteers will work in partnership with you to develop goals, taking account of what you can do, what you have difficulty with and the things that would make a difference to your independence and quality of life. Goals may relate to improving your mobility, for example changing safely from a sitting to a standing position or using stairs. They may also focus on carrying out activities such as washing and dressing or preparing hot drinks. Sometimes goals will be fully achieved during the stay but usually, you will continue to work towards achieving them with teams in the community once you are home. You will be expected to be active to the best of your ability on a daily basis.

How can you be referred to Mary Seacole Ward?

If the team which is caring for you at the acute hospital thinks you may benefit from an admission to Mary Seacole Ward, they will discuss this with you and make a referral. Mary Seacole Ward can help you if you are registered with a GP in Wandsworth, Richmond, Kingston, Lambeth or Hammersmith and Fulham.

If the referral is accepted, you may be transferred the same day if there is a bed available or, if there is a waiting list, you may need to wait a few days. Your referring team will arrange transport for you to be moved to Mary Seacole Ward at Queen Mary's Hospital, Roehampton.

Planning for your return home

Your estimated discharge date will be set on admission to Mary Seacole Ward and will be reviewed on a regular basis. You will usually see the therapy team up to five times per week. Therapists are available 8.30am to 4.30pm Monday to Friday. Doctors are available Monday to Friday 9am to 5pm, until 8pm for emergencies and at weekends between 9am to 5pm. You will be seen by a consultant doctor once a week.

What are the visiting hours?

Visitors can see you between 8am and 8pm. There is a maximum of two visitors allowed at the bedside at one time. We will ask visitors to step outside if we are delivering personal or medical care to you or other patients.

What do I need to bring with me?

If a relative or friend is able to help, we ask you to bring day and night clothes, toiletries, small change (for papers or snacks), well-fitting slippers or shoes, glasses and hearing aids if you wear them. Please bring 'REACH' or 'This is me' documentation if you have it and consider bringing books/radios/other portable hobbies.
